With our new Soccer Bear "Soccer King" we want to ring in the year 2006. Traditionally our new Teddy Bear catalogue is published today – in the middle of the year. So we would also like to give you a little foretaste of what will come to you next year. By the way, our Teddy Bear "Soccer King" is already the third Bear in our Soccer Bear series. It follows both of our Soccer Bears from the years 1994 and 2002 and this third Soccer Bear in the series is exceedingly charming for all Teddy Bear collectors.

But right now we are in the middle of the year 2005. Even though the hot summer time temperatures outside makes it hard to imagine, the production of our Christmas Bears has already commenced. We are all very busy in Coburg stuffing the little arms and legs of our Christmas Ornaments with excelsior and we are glad that one or other of our little friends will decorate your christmas tree at your home this coming season.

All our HERMANN-Coburg Teddy Bears are completely manufactured here by us in Germany. This gives you the certainty, that our Bears will bring along with them a high degree of Social-Quality, when they arrive at your home. The production of all our little darlings represents the high standards of our German social laws. This contains first but not least the prohibition of any kind of work by children – only to name one sample. This means that our Teddy Bears represent last and not least a high degree of social responsibility.

Every year in May, during the Neustadt Doll and Bear Festival, we open the doors of our factory in Coburg for all people, who are interested in Teddy Bears. During this week in May you can see our Teddy Bear production at first hand and begin to understand the amount of work and care that it takes to produce our Teddy Bears. Perhaps you would like to visit us in 2006? By the way, during our annual festival week we also make a series of special extraordinary editions that will wait for you, for example our Festival Bear,, which is a very special annual published edition.

But less of May 2006, let's return to today to introduce you our current Teddy Bear range for 2005. This year is characterized by a multitude of events and jubilees. We think of Lord Nelson and the battle of Trafalgar 200 years ago. We honour Max Hermann, the founder of our company, with a very special edition Bear, which shows you how our grandfather has lived and worked for our HERMANN Teddy Bears. For Hans Christian Andersen and his 200th Birthday we have made an entire world of fairy-tales. But the most outstanding event of the year 2005, which has moved the people around the world, was the nomination of Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger for Pope Benedict XVI. With huge joy we want to cite here some of the lines of the reply from the Vatican concerning our Pope Benedict XVI Teddy Bear:

(the letter is written in German language - here our translation into English language)
"Dear Mrs. Dr. Hermann! The State Secretariate of the Holy Vatican confirms friendly to you the receipt of your dear letter from May 9th of the year, with which you have made Pope Benedict XVI. a present of one in a limited edition made Teddy Bear from your family company. With pleasure His Holiness reciprocates your well-meaning gesture with his prayer for peace and welfare for all people and nations. With his heart Pope Benedict XVI. requests for you, for your family and for the employees of your company God's rich blessing. From the Vatican, May 27th, 2005."

HERMANN Teddy Bear Catalogue 2005 / 2006

We are proud to present you today our 2005 Teddy Bear range and we enjoy also to give you a little foretaste of what will come to you next year 2006. Nearly 80 new collectors Bears are waiting for you. Some editions are already sold out. Nevertheless we have decided to include them in our catalogue too. Our catalogue will be for you an illustration book, that will continually remind you of our new Teddy Bears 2005 in future years. Some special editions, made for special events like special shows, fairs, customers or countries, which are not pictured in this catalogue, you will find on our website at www.hermann.de on the internet.

11th Sonneberg Museum's Bear

The Sonneberg Toy Museum is one of the oldest toy museums in the world. In the possession of this museum there are also some old Teddy Bears made by Max Hermann, which our grandfather, the founder of our company, has given to the museum in the 1920's and 1930's, that they will be preserved for posterity. To follow this idea we have decided in 1994 to design a special Bear for the Sonneberg Toy Museum every year and to give always the number 001 of each model to the museum. The 2004 Sonneberg Museum's Bear, which we have handed over to the president of the Sonneberg Toy Museum in December 2004, is the 11th Bear in this museum's series. The common sign of all these Sonneberg Museum's Bears is the embroidered representation of the "Sonneberg little Horseman" as a symbol of the old tradition of Sonneberg toys. These Sonneberg Museum's Bears are models, which are first published in a small number of limited edition pieces as a "Museum Edition" as a "First Issue". This first issue is only destined for Germany. Only in following additional editions are these Museum's Bears released for other countries as a European and American Edition.

The Country-Edition-Conception

Our Teddy Bear "Pope Benedict XVI" is embedded in an extensive Country-Edition-Conception. Our request was, to figure the world-wide Christendom with this Teddy Bear. This was realized by the Country-Edition-Conception. Going out from a "Latin Edition", which is in the focus as a Center Edition, we have published around the globe for the various countries own editions. The respective Country-Limitation of 265 pieces is based on the reflection, that Pope Benedict XVI is the 265th Pope in the history since St. Peter. For the "Latin Edition" the paws of the Bear are embroidered in Latin, the official language of the Vatican. The "Latin Edition" is our "VIP-Edition" and first destined for ecclesiastical dignitaries and persons, who have deserved well of the Christendom. Going out from this spiritual center the single Country Editions spread around the whole world. They differ by their country sign behind the number. The embroidery of the paws is either in German or in English. The Teddy Bear with the number 265 form the German Edition was given for a present to His Holiness, the 265th Pope in the history, and was sent to the Vatican on May 9th, 2005. Quotations from the reply of the Vatican you will find on page 2 of this catalogue.

From the poem „Das Lied von der Glocke“ (1799) (the song of the bell) by Friedrich von Schiller (only in German language)

For the 200th Anniversary of Friedrich von Schiller
(1759-1805)

Schiller is one of the most eminent German poets of the 19th century. Born in 1759 in Marbach am Neckar, he developed from a young wild man into a Weimar classical author. He took up the theatre anew and created immortal poems. With his stage-play "Die Räuber" (the Robber) he appears at the beginning as a poet of the "Storm and Stress". After he had moved to Weimar he founded together with Goethe the "Weimar Classic". First of all he stood out by his ballads like „Das Lied von der Glocke“ (1799) (the song of the bell) and his dramas. Schiller's poem "An die Freude" (Ode to Joy) was set to music by Beethoven in the "Ninth Symphony". With this ode Schiller created the words for the soundtrack of the millennium and for that hymn, which belongs today to the international cultural treasures. In 1802 Schiller was knighted. On May 1805 Schiller passed away in Weimar.

Charles Dickens (1812-1870)

The English author Charles Dickens grew up in a poor family. With his novels he opened a complete new world, the world of the little people, the stepchildren of the society. He portrayed them with a never-ending love and a grotesque humor to rouse the conscience of the time. Many of his novels were first published in magazines in form of a continuation novel. "Oliver Twist", his autobiographical favorite work "David Copperfield" or his "Christmas Carol" belong to his most known novels. To criticize the social grievances of the time he coined the form of the "Social Novel". His criticism was impulse for several social reforms in England. Dickens's fellows are characterized by their striking and crotchety features. His style is that of a vivid fairytale or dream reality. Therefore most of his heroes have remained alive.

King Louis XIV (1638-1715)

Under the reign of Louis XIV the French absolutism saw its heyday and became an example for whole Europe. 1643 King Louis XIV became King of France after the death of his father Louis XIII. He met all requirements for a sovereign like working power, cleverness or self-esteem. He alone wanted to be the state. With his words „L'Etat c'est moi“ – The State, that's me – he raised the royal absolutism to a dogma. King Louis XIV got the surname „Roi Soleil“ – Sun King – because of his splendid and magnificent royal household specially referring the Castle Versailles.

For the 50th Anniversary of Albert Einstein (1879-1955)
 Albert Einstein is the most important physicist and the greatest geniuses of the 20th century. With the development of his theory of relativity Albert Einstein created a complete new picture of the world. In 1905 Einstein developed his famous mass-energy equation $E = mc^2$ as part of his theory of relativity. In 1921 he received the Nobel Prize for physic. In 1933 he emigrated to the United States of America. After the Second World War he fought for peace and political freedom. His theories are that, which the physicist Albert Einstein made a legend, but it is the peculiar blend of geniuses and crotchety, which made the human Albert Einstein a legend. Einstein believed firmly in the lawfulness of the nature. He always said: God doesn't play at dice. When he came into a medical hospital in April 1955, he denied every medical operation: "I have done my part, it is time to go."

David and Goliath

King David was born as a poor shepherd-boy. He entered the biblical history with the story of "David and Goliath". This story tells about the unequal fight between the little shepherd-boy "David" and the powerful warrior "Goliath". Still today people are talking about a fight "David against Goliath", when one side is much more stronger than the other side. David, who became later King of Israel and who was the founder of the house and line "David", grew up as a poor shepherd. In the war against the Philistines he agreed to fight against the giant "Goliath", because no other of the warrior wanted to do this. Although David was much smaller as the huge Philistine, he defeated Goliath with his sling in his hand by a stone.

"As the Philistines moved closer to attack him, David ran quickly towards the battle line to meet him. Reaching into his bag and taking out a stone, he slung it and struck the Philistine on the forehead, and he fell face down on the ground. So David triumphed over the Philistine with a sling and a stone; without a sword in his hand he struck down the Philistine and killed him."

(1 Samuel 17: 48-50)

After that King Saul gave David a high rank in the army. After the death of King Saul, David himself became King of Israel. He founded the house and line "David". Also Joseph, the husband of Maria, belonged to his descendants. After David's death, his son Solomon became King of Israel, who became known in the biblical history as the ideal of a wise sovereign.

The name "Max Hermann" is inseparable bound with the history of the Teddy Bear. 1920 – 85 years ago – he founded the today's HERMANN-Spielwaren GmbH (HERMANN Toy Company). In honor of his grandfather and in memory of the death of Max Hermann 50 years ago on September 23rd, 1955, his both grandchildren Ulla and Martin Hermann have created a Teddy Bear, which shows Max Hermann in the style that he has lived and worked. Until today the signification of Max Hermann referring Teddy Bears is all around present.

Important Notes and general Product Information about all HERMANN-Coburg Teddy Bears:

All HERMANN-Coburg Teddy Bears are high-class collector pieces. According to this our quality demands are high-class. All our Teddy Bears are coined by their

- high Social-Quality
- ambitious Design-Quality
- high value Material-Quality
- competent Making-Quality
- peaceable Environment-Quality
- generations overlapping Know-How-Quality
- traditional Brand-Quality

All HERMANN-Coburg Teddy Bears are completely manufactured in Germany. With the work place in Germany we confess our social responsibility for those women and men, who produce our Teddy Bears. Our social competence is reflected by the Social-Quality of our Teddy Bears. All our employees and workers work on the best social conditions. The working conditions of our workers are safeguarded by the high standard of German social laws and by the high demands of the German industrial safety laws. In harmony with the German legislation we refuse any kind of work by children or pressure work. In accordance with our high-class quality demands our workers are liable to no quantitative output stress.

All HERMANN-Coburg Teddy Bears are high-grade hand-made products, made by talented and trained skilled workers. Our responsibility for our world around us applies to the material we use and energy efficiency. Our Teddy Bears are produced with a minimal consumption of electric energy resources. We use only high value materials and selected natural fabrics. All our Teddy Bears are created by our own ideas and designed by our own design studio, if not otherwise specified. Several of our models have won internationally recognized awards. All our Teddy Bears are standing on the solid foundations of more than 80 years history of our company and base on generations of overlapping knowledge and experience about making of good Teddy Bears.

All HERMANN-Coburg Teddy Bears come from one of the oldest today still existing Teddy Bear companies in the world. The sign of all our Teddy Bears is the "neck mark" in triangle form, the fabric label and the green HERMANN hang tag. They are 5-times jointed, if not otherwise specified.

All HERMANN-Coburg Teddy Bears are not children toys but high-class collector pieces and are not recommended for children under 3 years of age. But also, when the child is over 3 years of age, remove in every case all accessory items (including bows, clothes, pins, chains, brooches, embellishments, and so on) before giving the Teddy Bear to the child. Always use care when handling your Bear. Our Teddy Bears – without clothes and any accessory – correspond with the European safety norm EN 71 and are classified with the CE label. Very special high-class collector pieces made out of artificial silk plush or with special glass eyes are generally not made as a child's toy and must not be given generally to a child. They are marked as such and signed as valuable collectible piece on the certificate.

The material used for the clothes of the Teddy Bears may vary in colors from the illustration in this catalogue.

Many thanks to our employee Andrea Engelhardt for creating the shaping of the clothes for our Bears.

On September 23rd 1955 – 50 years ago – Max Hermann passed away. He handed down to all of us a good and well-known name, which was carried from Sonneberg in Thuringia around the world. He started with a small Teddy Bear workshop and built up a respected company. His last great decision, before he died, was, to lead his family to the western part of Germany and his Teddy Bear into a good future. From this time on, the tradition of the old Max Hermann Teddy Bears has its home in Coburg. Until today the spirit, the force and the courage of Max Hermann live on in our Teddy Bears. In memory of the 50th anniversary of our founder's death, we introduce a Teddy Bear, which shows Max Hermann in the style that he lived and worked.

"Old Hermann, the Bear Stuffer" tells a story from the first beginnings of the old Max Hermann Teddy Bears. It was the time short after the First World War. Unemployment and misery was all around. As well as it could be done in those hard years Max Hermann made Teddy Bears and sell them to big Sonneberg wholesalers, who then sent them overseas. The proceeds for his Bears were small, but he always was paid immediately, when he delivered them. This helped him to buy new material and to continue his work. Although the proceeds were so meagre, he always made his Teaddy Bears carefully. His huge knowledge about making good quality Teddy Bears helped him. Soon the reputation of Max Hermann spread to the buyers of big foreign department stores and they asked Max Hermann, if it would be possible to buy from him.

Max Hermann won one of his first large export orders – so the family history says – from a famous English department store company. To satisfy the demands for his Teddy Bears Max Hermann was forced to increase production and for this he needed working capital. It could last weeks until the payments would arrive from a foreign country. But it was a chance, which Max Hermann didn't want to let slip. Young and commercially inexperienced like Max Hermann was at that time, he put on his best suit – by the way it was the only suit which he possessed – to visit the local banks. He wanted to cut a good figure, perhaps then he would succeed in finding a bank, from which he would get a loan. But all over he get the same answer – without security no money. But Max Hermann couldn't offer any security at those times of the first beginning. He didn't possess any worth mentioning assets, his entire possession was his knowledge about making good Teddy Bears. Also in the 20 miles far away town of Coburg the bank manager of the Bavarian State Bank didn't raise Max Hermann's hopes to get a credit without security.

Some weeks later – Max Hermann had already lost all hopes – there was a knock at the door of his little Teddy Bear workshop in Sonneberg. A smartly dressed man in a business suit entered the room. It was the bank manager from Coburg. Max Hermann was just stuffing some of his Bears. He had still his stuffing tool in his hand, when he went up to the visitor. But the bank manager didn't indicate Max Hermann, because Max Hermann was covered from head to foot by excelsior. The bank manager looked around and asked Max Hermann, whether he could talk to the owner of this Bear company. Max Hermann answered, that he himself would be Max Hermann. Now the bank manager became aware that the man, who stood before him with his old working apron and wood wool dust powder in his hairs, was indeed Max Hermann, who had visited him weeks ago. The bank manager was so astonished about the working energy of Max Hermann, that he called – so the family history says – in the same moment: "Mr. Hermann you will get the credit from my bank, your working hands are security enough for me."

This was the beginning of the first large heyday of the old Max Hermann Teddy Bears. And until today the excelsior stuffed mohair Teddy Bears, like Max Hermann had made them with his own hands in those early days of the beginning, are remained the heart of the HERMANN-Coburg collection.

The Neustadt Doll and Bear Festival

Every year in May the Neustadt Doll and Bear Festival takes place in the region around Coburg/Neustadt/Sonneberg. It is the most important meeting of collectors for traditional toys amidst of the oldest region of German toys. The Neustadt Doll and Bear Festival was called into being in 1992 by engaged historians and toy makers of the region. Rolf-G. Hermann, the late president of the HERMANN-Coburg company has responsible parts in this. During this Festival week the factory of HERMANN-Coburg is opened for all people. The visitors have the possibility to see at first hand the production of Teddy Bears made by one of the oldest Teddy Bear companies of the world.

On the occasion of the 1st Neustadt Doll and Bear Festival in 1992 Ulla Hermann has born and created the idea of a Festival Bear. Since that time HERMANN-Coburg designs an extraordinary Teddy Bear as "Festival Bear" every year. The Festival Bear 2005 is the 14th Bear in this Festival series. The Festival Bear is always published in a small number of limited edition pieces as a "Festival Edition" as a "First Issue". This first issue is only destined for Germany and for visitors of the Festival. But for the first time in 2005 the HERMANN Festival Bear will be also available as an European Edition for collectors in the European foreign countries.

Joseph Haydn (1732-1809)

Joseph Haydn is the oldest of the three "Vienna Classics". The other both are Mozart (1756-1791) and Beethoven (1770-1827). Haydn created many famous symphonies like the "Toy Symphony". Most of his compositions were called into being during his time on the court of Prince Nikolaus Joseph Esterházy in Eisenstadt. After the death of the Prince he moved to Vienna. The time between 1781 and 1791 was signed by his close friendship to Mozart. This friendship can be felt very impressively in the compositions of that time of both – Haydn and Mozart. In 1791/92 and once again in 1794/95 he visited London. There he presented his symphonies with great success. Between these both stays in London, Beethoven was his pupil in Vienna. In this time Beethoven dedicated three of his piano sonatas to Haydn. In 1797 Haydn composed for the birthday of the Austrian Emperor the Emperor Hymn "Gott erhalte Franz den Kaiser" (God save Franz the Emperor). The melody of this composition was the basis of the "German song", which is the National Anthem of Germany since 1922 and also today of the Federal Republic of Germany.

Lord Nelson (1758-1805) and the Battle of Trafalgar 200 years ago on 21st of October 1805

Horatio Nelson was the son of a vicar. He became a sailor as a very young man. When he was 21 years old he was the commander of a frigate during the American Independence War. In the naval war against France he lost the sight from one eye during the capture of Calvi on Corsica in 1794. In 1797 he attacked Tenerife and lost at this his right arm. 1788 he destroyed the French army near Abukir. This was the reason, why the trial of Napoleon failed to conquer Egypt. 1801 Nelson was knighted and got the noble title "Lord Nelson". 1803 he became Admiral and the commander of the English fleet in the Mediterranean Sea. In the decisive battle of Trafalgar, which was a cap at the Spanish Atlantic coast, he defeated the united French-Spanish fleet on 21st of October 1805. In this naval battle Admiral Lord Nelson himself was killed. But this naval battle saved definitively the sea power of Great Britain for more than one century. Lord Nelson became also famous because of his affair with Lady Emma Hamilton. This love story involved him also in several political troubles. He knew to wake the enthusiasm of his fellows with his boldness and his energy. This caused, that until today Lord Nelson is one of the most loved heroes of the English history.

Guy Fawkes (1570-1606) and the "Gunpowder Plot" 400 years ago on 5th November 1605

Ten Catholic noblemen from England, among them Guy Fawkes, tried to conquer the English Parliament with the support of the Jesuits during the opening of the Parliament on November 5th, 1605. They want to call people's attention to the discriminating grievances against the Catholicism. One day before the secret of the plan was given away. The conspirators were killed. First the "Gunpowder Plot" was reason for new measures against the Catholicism. But because of the relaxation of the Spanish-English relationships, the Catholicism in England was able to gain strength anew. Still today the 5th of November in England is celebrating by the English youth as the "Guy-Fawkes-Day" with great fireworks.

Hans Christian Andersen (1805 – 1875)

The Denmark poet Hans Christian Andersen was the son of a poor shoemaker. He conquered the whole world with his fairy-tales, which were translated in more than 80 languages. He wrote fairy-tales not only for children but first of all also for adults. His fairy-tales include warm humor in the same like bitter irony. They are comforting for all, the children and the adults, because always the good is succeeding and the brave and persevering fellow will always win. On occasion of the 200th birthday of Hans Christian Andersen we have chosen nine of the most beautiful Andersen fairy-tales and have them designed as little fairy-tale Bears.

For the 200th Birthday of Hans Christian Andersen –
the Hans Christian Andersen World of Fairy-Tales 2005
from HERMANN-Coburg

On the occasion of the 200th birthday of Hans Christian Andersen the Teddy Bear “Hans Christian Andersen” and nine little Fairy-Tale Bears will accompany you throughout the Jubilee Year 2005. Every month - from March till December 2005 - we will publish a new Bear from our “Hans Christian Andersen World of Fairy-Tales Series”. All Bears are available as single Bears or as a collector’s subscription.

The Collector’s Subscription of the Hans Christian Andersen World of Fairy-Tale Bears:

When you order the collector’s subscription of the Andersen fairy-tale Bears, all of the 10 different Bears will have the same individual limited number. Each month from March till December 2005 one of the 10 different Bears will be delivered. The first Bear in row is the Teddy Bear “Hans Christian Andersen”. He comes with a little miniature fairy-tales book with seven Andersen fairy-tales. This book is only available in German language.

But also each of the nine little Andersen fairy-tale Bears comes with a little fairy-tale book with the respective fairy-tale. These little single fairy-tale books are available by choice in German or English language.

Each of the little Fairy-tale Bears is numbered on the Bear itself. A little golden colored metal plate is riveted into the left thigh of the Bear on which the individual number is scribed.

Tut-anch-Amun

The famous discovery of the nearly untouched grave of Tut-anch-Amun by Howard Carter in the year 1922 was celebrated world-wide as sensation. The Pharaoh grave located in the Valley of Kings gave a deep impression about the culture of the old Egypt. A multitude of mythical treasures and cultural objects, which should make it possible for the Pharaoh to live on in accordance with his rank in the beyond, bore witness of the magnificence and art at the court of the Pharaoh during the period of the "New Empire".

The history of the antique Egypt covers nearly 3000 years. 30 Dynasties lie between the unification of the empire in the year 3150 B.C. and its conquest by "Alexander the Big". These dynasties belong to several magnificent and well ordered empire periods and some interim periods. The reign of Tut-anch-Amun (1347-1339 B.C.) belongs to the empire period of the "New Empire" (1570-1070 B.C.) and is attached to the 18th Dynasty (about 1350 B.C.)

It was a chain of special circumstances, which raised the sickly child to the throne of Egypt at an age of nine years under the name "Tut-anch-Aton", that means "Living Picture of the God Aton". And it was this child, which turned against the heresy of its predecessor, and which inserted again the culture of the traditional highest God "Amun". So the young Pharaoh became "Tut-anch-Amun", that means "Living Picture of the God Amun". To re-establish the divine order and to give back to the highest God the place, which belonged to him, this will remain the only act of glory by the young God-King, because his reign found to its end after only nine years with his death. Therefore Tut-anch-Amun had not become one of the great Pharaohs of the history. Tut-anch-Amun disappeared after a short and not very glorious regency. A difficult political situation his young age and his early death have not allowed it, that the Child-King become a great King. He died in the year nine of his regency at an age of nineteen under misty circumstances.

But nevertheless it was his death, which caused, that Tut-anch-Amun obtained everlasting celebrity. The opening of his tomb on November 27th, 1922 produced all around absolute astonishment, because this grave was the only grave of a King, which had outlasted the times undamaged. When they found the royal mummy of Tut-anch-Amun, his face was covered by a golden death-mask with the lineaments of the Pharaoh. He bore the "Nemes", a striped head-scarf, which fell to the shoulders. On his forehead raised the both female God Patrons of Egypt, the cobra "Wadjet" of the North and the vulture "Nechbet" of the South. The royal insignias, the crooked staff and the whip, were also added to him.

The exceedingly rich treasures, which were found inside the grave, are today in the possession of the museum of Cairo.

For the 100th Birthday of Las Vegas (1905-2005)
 Casinos, wedding chapels, neon signs high as the sky, mega shows featuring white tigers and scantily dressed chorus girls – Las Vegas is one of those places in the world everyone can picture without actually having been there.
 Las Vegas was founded in the Nevada dessert on 15th May 1905 by settlers and adventures. The name "Las Vegas", which means as much as "the meadow", was chosen by the first Spanish settlers. The town owes its foundation to the construction of the railroad in the year 1905. Because it had failed to turn the wild fellows, who had settled there at this god-forsaken spot in the dessert, into honest townsmen, the soldiers of fortune get finally the upper hand in Las Vegas at the beginning of the 1930's, when the card-playing and the game of dice were legalized in Nevada. In 1945 the first serious casino was built and named "Flamingo". The protests of the parishes were donated away offhand, which brought out, that there is in Las Vegas today a multitude of little churches and chapels.

The "Shamrock", the Badge of Ireland
 Every year on March 17th, the Irish celebrate St. Patrick's Day with parades. The holiday honors the Holy St. Patrick, who brought Christianity to Ireland in the 5th century. According to the legend, St. Patrick used the three-leaf clover to explain the Christine doctrine of the Holy Trinity. Since that time, the three-leaf clover – the "Shamrock" – is the badge of Ireland.

HERMANN Flower Bears

The HERMANN "Flower Bears" are a special Teddy Bear series. With this we want to introduce the beauty of several little flowers, which grow throughout the year in our home meadows. Very little miniature bells with their light, hardly perceptible sound, which are fixed on the dressing of the Bears, shall let us feel the rush of the wind in our meadows and fields.

Kristina Dietzel

Kristina Dietzel studies five years at the University of Art and Design in Halle, Germany, and received the German graduate degree in Toy Design. She is a member of the German federation of "Interpretative Artists". The Bears of the high-grade talented artist distinguish themselves by their high level of details, which gives the Bears a unique mobility.

The Creation of the HERMANN-Coburg Bears

The design is one of the most important assignments of a Teddy Bear company. With the design the character of a Bear will be formed and determined, which ideas the Bear should represent. Beside the design outline of Ulla Hermann, who is responsible for the entire HERMANN-Coburg collection, the ideas, stimulations, suggestions and explanations of many employees flow in to the Bear design. Thank you to all, who have had part in the development of the HERMANN-Coburg Bears.

Ulla Hermann

Growing up in one of the oldest Teddy Bear companies, the name of the founder's granddaughter stands for tradition and consistence. Every year there are up to 100 different models that Ulla designs. Holding an academic Doctor degree she sees her Bears in a cultural aspect. Because of her education there are models that have personalities, which she redraws in her design. She loves to tell stories with her Bears. Many of her excelsior filled Bears are developed from her grandfather's models, which she filled with new ideas. But her passion is also for the new, young Bear designs, which she brings alive with her "Teddy Bears of the new Generation". The "Fancy 2 Bear", which is introduced here on this page, is an example for that.

HERMANN "Fancy Bears"

With our new "Fancy 2 Bear" we continue our imagination series, which we have started in 2004. The design of our "Fancy Bears" is significant coined by the material. High valuable mohair materials with extraordinary long hair pile serve as inspiration for the style of design. The result are extraordinary "Fancy" Bears, which come to live by the mohair material.

Valentine's Day

Valentine's Day, which is held on February 14th, was named after the Holy St. Valentine, a Martyr from the 3rd century. Today we celebrate Valentine's as a day of love, where lovers and friends exchange flowers and gifts.

Red Panda

While the Red Panda is not as well known as the Black and White Panda, he is far more spread out all over the world than his cousin the Black and White Panda. Just like the Classic Panda, the Red Panda's favorite spot is the isolated bamboo forest. Red Pandas are found on steep mountains in Western China and in the Tibetan Himalayas. Both – the Red Panda and the Black and White Panda - are plant eaters and they both love bamboo. But while the Classic Panda only eats bamboo, his cousin the Red Panda prefers mixed food. In the bamboo forest the Red Panda looks for the younger bamboo, which is his main food. But he also eats fruits and sometimes an egg. His fox red fur gave him the name "Red Panda". His long tail is gold with reddish brown rings. His almost triangle shaped face has a white mask with a dark brown stripe, which reaches from the eye up to the corner of the mouth. The Red Panda spends his days sleeping in trees. He is a family animal. Male and female are always staying together and usually produce many children.

HERMANN Dream Team 2005

The most popular awards for Teddy Bears are world-wide the TOBY™ Award and the Golden Teddy Award in the USA, just as the TED worldwide Award in Europe. Teddy Bear manufacturers and artists from around the world enter every year these contests to get one of the desirables nominations, which are given away by an international jury of experts. But only the most beautiful Bears get such a nomination.

The Bear with the Running Dog A Logo with Tradition

October 24th, 1913

In Neufang, a small mountain village in Thuringia, close to Sonneberg the Toy Capital of the world, Arthur, Adelheid and Max Hermann start - under the name of their father, Johann Hermann (1854-1919) - "Johann Hermann Spielwarenfabrik" - the production of their

First HERMANN Teddy Bear

1920

After World War I, and the death of Johann Hermann in 1919, the brothers and sisters separate and Max Hermann (1899-1955) founded in Neufang, in the birth house of the first Hermann Teddy Bears, his own little Teddy Bear company now under his own name "Max Hermann". Shortly after, he moves his company to Sonneberg - at that time the Toy Capital of the world. There he develops his company into a well-known brand name. His Teddy Bears are shipped all over the world.

1933

In order to mark and identify his Teddy Bears Max Hermann develops the famous logo

"The Green Triangle"

"The Bear with the Running Dog"

From that day forward all Max Hermann Teddy Bears are identified with this logo.

1945

After World War II, Germany is separated into East and West. The state of Thuringia with its city of Sonneberg becomes a part of East Germany.

1953

Max Hermann leaves with his family from the hometown of his Teddy Bears and from East to West to the nearby city of Coburg in Bavaria. Here he rebuilds, together with his son, Rolf-Gerhard (1922-1995), his plush animal factory and continues the tradition of the HERMANN Teddy Bears. On September 23rd, 1955 Max Hermann died. He never has seen again his hometown Sonneberg.

1990

German Unity. 40 years after the iron curtain separation, the HERMANN Teddy Bears are able to visit again the place of their genesis - "A Teddy Bear comes home".

1993

Since 1993, all HERMANN-Coburg Teddy Bears are marked with a special "neck mark", which is sealed tight on the Bear's neck. This way, HERMANN Bears are easily identified. Important characteristics of the "neck mark" is the "Triangle shape" with the imprint of "The Bear with the Running Dog". These features have been used since the beginning of the 1930's. This neck mark guarantees the identification of Teddy Bears manufactured by HERMANN-Coburg for today and the future.

Rolf-G. Hermann died on June 19th, 1995. He left behind a flourishing company for both his children Ulla and Martin.

On August 1st, 1996, HERMANN-Coburg is on-line with its own home page. With a website containing 200 pages and 400 pictures, all HERMANN-Coburg Teddy Bear collectors and dealers from around the world can obtain valuable information from the HERMANN-Coburg company at the web address

2005

Today, in Coburg, the old Max Hermann Teddy Bears are produced in the third generation under the management of the founder's grandchildren, Dr. Ursula (1952) and Martin (1963) Hermann. The collection contains more than 400 different Teddy Bears, all made in Germany and most in limited editions. Several have won internationally recognized awards. Replicas of old Max Hermann Teddy Bears, which are produced in the old Sonneberg tradition, belong to the HERMANN-Coburg collection along with Bears from the new generation. Through the experience, knowledge and talent of craftsmen and women from the toy region of Coburg-Neustadt-Sonneberg, the tradition of quality made Teddy Bears is preserved.
